

Answer the questions below are the impressions or remains of animals and plants that have turned to stone.

Bones, fossils, and are clues used by archeologists.

Objects from the past, usually made by people are called .

The or dig, is the spot where archeologists begin to collect evidence.

A is used to sift sand and rubble.

Archeologists reconstruct the past by gathering .

This passage says archeologists search for pottery, tools, seeds, weapons, and .

The type of equipment used to determine the age of an item is

- ☐ a sieve.
- ☐ a camera.

- high-tech.